

Drikung Charitable Society

Sponsor a Tibetan Child or other needy refugee

This program was founded by H.E. Chöje Ayang Rinpoche to help poor and orphaned lay children find sponsors for their education. It also helps the elderly, poor, ill, handicapped and widowed.

With the help of sponsors Tibetan children are able to purchase books, clothing and other essentials, and pay for tuition for higher education. Many have completed their studies and are able to work and help support their families.

Many sponsors correspond with their children, exchange photos, and have developed ongoing relationships

Sponsorship costs US$360 per year.

A recent high school graduate wrote:

"I earnestly request compassionate Western brothers and sisters to extend your kind sponsorship help to enable me to pursue my higher education. Our family will remain deeply grateful to you for this timely act of great kindness."

For more information or to make a donation contact
ny@amitabhafoundation.us
or visit amitabhafoundation.us or ayangrinpoche.org

Help build a Teaching Center or sponsor other needy projects in India

The extensive charitable works of the DCS and HE Chöje Ayang Rinpoche fall under one very simple heading – helping people and communities.

Whether Rinpoche is seeking funds to run his monasteries, build a nunnery or retreat center, to fight Hepatitis B, pave roads, upgrade a school or install street lights, he draws no distinctions between helping religious, non-religious, monks or lay people.

- $3,000 can buy an acre of land for a dairy farm within the Tibetan Settlement of Bylakuppe, India or help build a new monastery temple
- $1,000 can buy much needed medical, water purification or other equipment
- $500 can buy a milk cow or help fund the extensive and ongoing Hepatitis B program
- $250 can buy medical supplies
- $50 a month can help pay the wages of a dairy farmer, nurse or doctor
- $25 a month can help buy an egg for every monk, every month.

Help build the Phowa Practice and Teaching Center in Bodhgaya. This center is currently under development and will become the permanent venue for Rinpoche's annual Phowa course.

Each year over 1,000 monks, nuns and lay people attend this remarkable event, currently held on rented grounds adjacent to The Mahabodhi Temple. The new center will provide upgraded facilities and significantly improve scheduling options.

For more information or to make a donation contact
True Lhamo at amitabhafoundation@yahoo.co.in or visit amitabhafoundation.us or ayangrinpoche.org